

More US Insurers Want to Send Americans Abroad for Treatment

Contributed by Sam
Monday, 27 October 2008

I've known for some time that some US employers have a medical insurance plan that would allow employees to go overseas for certain elective surgery, in order to get lower premiums or to avoid outrageous deductibles if the same procedure is done in the US.

Read More ...